

The National Association of Reimbursement Officers (NARO) is a national, non-profit alliance of governmental agencies and individuals with the shared mission of improving and maintaining essential health and human services provided to vulnerable populations by generating revenue to offset the cost of providing care. Founded in 1955, NARO provides members with a business forum and network to collaborate and share expertise and information on health care finance, reimbursement and other key areas including best practices, regulatory changes, and state and federal health care benefits.
