Seven additional members represent their respective human service agencies.

Budget Overview

THE NEW YORK STATE OFFICE OF MENTAL HEALTH envisions a future when everyone with a mental illness will recover, when mental illnesses can be prevented or cured, when everyone with a mental illness at any stage of life has access to effective treatment and supports essential for living, working, learning and participating fully in the community.

"This future includes the elimination of disparities in access to high quality mental health services and incorporates cultural competence in service delivery."

Sharon E. Cappinello, RN, PhD, Commissioner, New York State Office of Mental Health

Budget Overview

2005 Geriatric Mental Health Act ($2.0 million) - Increase the proportion of older adults receiving mental health services tailored to their unique needs via the establishment of demonstration programs

Children's mental health

Children's research findings

- ❖ 1 out of 10 children have a serious emotional disturbance
- ❖ Only 30% of children age 14 and older with emotional disturbance graduate with a standard high school diploma
- ❖ Among all disabilities, emotional disturbance was associated with the highest rate of school dropout
- ❖ Suicide is the 3rd leading cause of death among children and adolescents

Achieving the Promise for New York's Children and Families

The pattern embedded in the fabric of the Office of Mental Health's 2006-2007 budget is intricate and well designed. It is created through the integration of vision, knowledge and action in combination with continuous evaluation and adaptation.

Initiative	Gross Cost
Child and Family Clinic Plus	$33,000,000
Home and Community-Based Waiver (OMH)	$14,340,000
Home and Community-Based Waiver (OCFS)	$7,200,000
Evidence-Based Treatment Dissemination Center	$620,000
Rural Telepsychiatry	$450,000
2.5% COLA for Children's Community-Based Programs	$6,280,000
<small>(The first of three annual increases linked to the CPI)</small>
TOTAL ANNUAL INVESTMENT	$62 Million

In the end, this tapestry, representing the largest, one-year new investment in children's mental health services in the State's history, will serve as New York's statement to the children and families of this State that we are achieving our promise.
